From the Chair.....Page 1

Dear Member,

I am writing with the good news that for 2021 we will be restarting our programme of Friday evening talks and we have a very varied and interesting programme lined up.

The first talk, which is on Friday 22 January, is being given by Ben Kite, a chartered ecologist who lives in Appleshaw. He will be telling us about “Historical Ecology: How Studies of the Natural World can Provide Insights into Human History”.

Our usual evening meetings will be reinstated as soon as possible but it is certain that we will be subject to Covid restrictions for many months to come so, until we are able to meet in person, these talks will be given on-line using Zoom.

Some of you are already familiar with Zoom because your church, or other local group, has been using it to keep in touch during the year, but for many of you it will be something quite new.

Zoom is very easy to use but everyone finds their first go a bit daunting. So, to help with that, we are having a very informal practice session at 7pm on Monday 11 January.

Please put that date in your diary now, and I will write the day before telling you exactly what you need to do.

On that Monday evening I do hope that you will sit down at your computer or tablet, with a cuppa or glass of something in your hand, and have a go especially as it will be our first chance to see each other in a very long time.

Andrew Hoble, is running the session for us, and he will be able to sort out any problems or questions you have so that we can all be set to enjoy the programme ahead.

With best wishes for the New Year from me and your Committee,

Erica
